HOME PAGE

Main Page

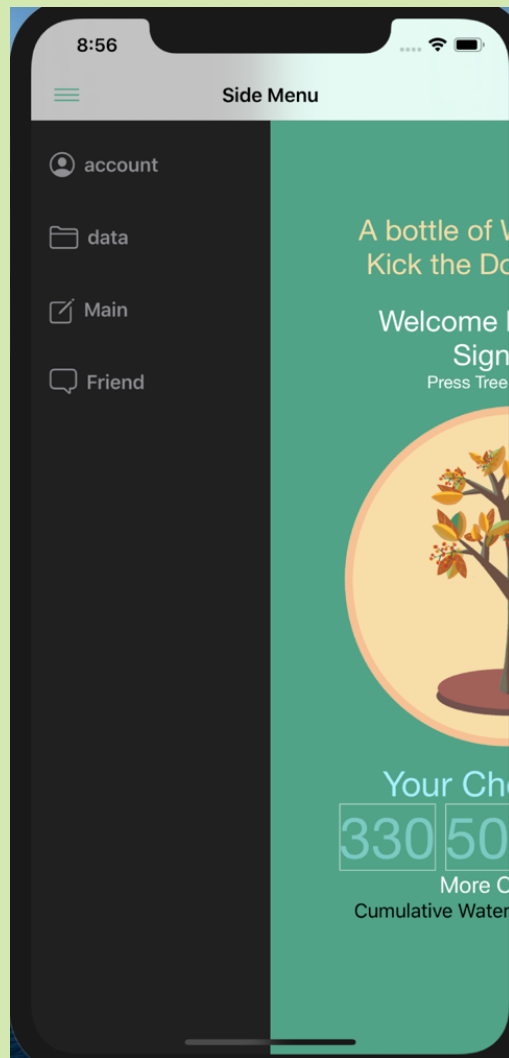

In the homepage, you can see the image of the tree. Each time when you drink the water, there are three choices of the amount of water that you drink. Thus, you could click one of them to update your data, and even if the amount of water is not included among these three buttons, you could still define yourself by clicking "More Choices."

With updating each time, the tree status will maintain. Unless you forget to drink on time and update your data, the condition of the tree will drop to the lower state; there will be nine status in total.

Side Menu

Other pages, like account, data and friend, can all be accessed from the side menu.

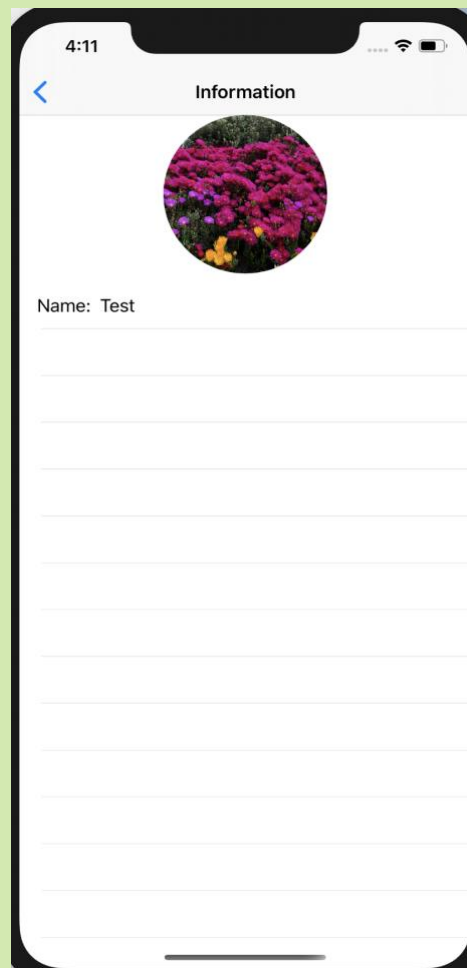

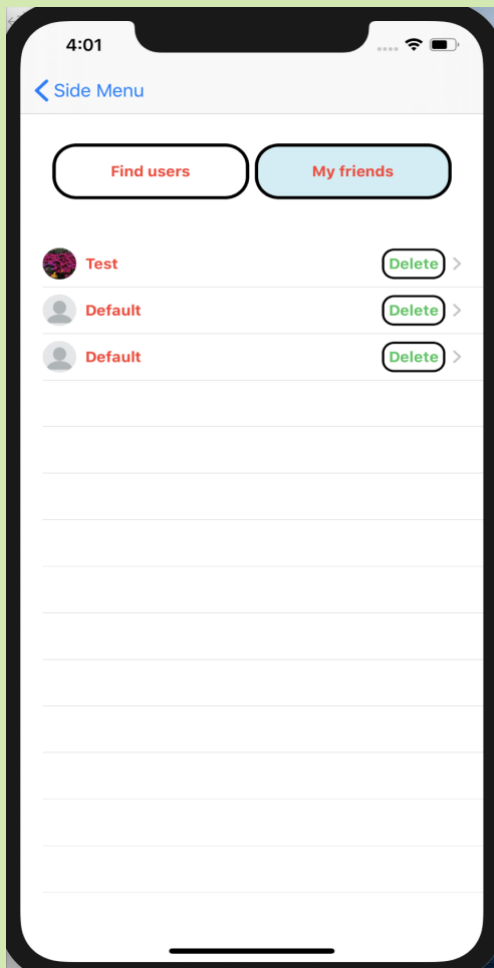

FRIEND PAGE

My Friend

After clicking the Friend button on the side menu, you will be navigated to this view where you can see their friends. You could delete and visit your friends' profiles.

By clicking the Delete button, you may delete an existing friend from your friend list.

By clicking friend's name, you could visit the friend's profile.

Find Users

After clicking the “Find users” button, you will see this page where you can search for friends by their ids and add them.

By entering a valid string of characters in the search box, it will give you the corresponded users. The possible users will narrow down when you enter longer steam of words.

By clicking the add button, you could add the shown users as friends. The added users will be shown in My friends.

DATA PAGE

In the data page, you can view your records of the current day, week, month, and year, as well as a progress bar showing how many days in the current week, month, and year you have achieved the recommended water intake for an adult (2 liters).

You can enter the data page by clicking “data” on the side menu. The progress bar is on the upper half of the screen, and the records are on the lower half of the screen.

There are four options to view the records over a different time interval.

NOTIFICATION

The notification will show up whenever the tree status changes. Every time the tree withers, we will push notifications to remind you to drink water.
